

← Back

News / Resolution in the Tony Hall case

Share

The case of suspended University of Lethbridge professor Tony Hall has ended with a settlement and reinstatement. Hall was suspended without pay in late 2016 following an investigation by the university into his online activity. His pay was later reinstated.

Related Bulletins | View All

Feature

It takes a union village: CAUT and the unfinished project of academic staff unionism

17-04-2026

President's message

Lessons learned?

17-04-2026

By the numbers

A brief history of CAUT

17-04-2026

Subscribe to Our Monthly Newsletter

First Name

Last Name

Email

Who We Are

Our Story

Mission and Values

Policy Statements

Our Governance

Executive Committee

Committees

National Union of CAUT

CAUT Defence Fund

CAUT Foundation

Awards & Scholarships

Publications

Bulletin

Briefs & Reports

CAUT Journal

News

All Publications

Membership

Member Login

Why Join CAUT

Who Can Join CAUT

How to Join CAUT

Member Associations

Affinity Programs

CAUT Careers Donate Advertise Contact Us